Brumbaugh Stamp of Approval Placed on Assembly Candidates

Moulthrop, Currier and Peterson Receive Official Sanction at Hands of Hon. Chas. E. Patton This Morning

HON. JOE PHILIPS SENT TO THE DISCARD

Hon. Charles E. Patton, of Curwensville, secretary of agriculture in Governor Brumbaugh's cabinet, spent a few hours in Clearfield this morning conferring with Brumbaugh leaders hereabouts, and generally leaning his ear to the ground in the interest of the fight of his chief to the national convention. Incidentally, quite so, it is understood, the Brumbaugh stamp of approval which had adorned the candidacy of Hon. Joseph Philips, was erased entirely, and transferred to the ambitions of W. E. Peterson, of Munson.

A quiet open air conference between Mr. Patton, Dr. Currrier, of Grampian, A. S. Moulthrop, of DuBois, Mr. Peterson, and a number of Brumbaugh leaders of Clearfield and elsewhere in the county, was held on the Dimeling corner during the morning, when it is reported that not only the Peterson but the Currier and Moulthrop candidatures were given official sanction, blessings, etc., etc., etc., and the groundword laid for active opposition to Woodward and Boulton, who are thus far the only candidates who have been pledged the support of the recently organized Citizens' Committee of One Hundred.

Mr. Patton left for his home in Curwensville on the 11:40 B., R. & P. train. His itinerary in Clearfield county includes DuBois, to which place he will go this evening to line up the forces which are to support John C. Arnold for delegate to the national convention on a straight Brumbaugh ticket. Mr. Arnold announced his candidacy yesterday, and his friends say he will make a hard fight for election.

Mr. Patton's arrival here, and the O. K. conference which was held this morning will serve to launch under who are determined to send men of full steam the activities of the supporters of Woodward and Boulton, brains and ability to represent the county at Harrisburg next year.

GERMAN OFFICER CONFESSES PLOT TO BLOW UP SHIPS

Plot To Blow Up Munition Ships Revealed By New York Police Last Night

Sweated Until Daybreak Aged Captain Tells Story of Bomb Factory And Plot—Officers Believe They are On Trail of Men Higher Up.

New York, April 13.—(By United Press)—Full confession of the details of the plot to blow up ships carrying munitions to the allies has been made by Captain Karl Von Kleise, retired sea captain, and one of the four men arrested last night, the police announced today.

Sweated until day break today von Kleise broke down and admitted that he was superintendent of a factory in Hoboken where bombs were made, the police stated. Certain parts of his confession are being withheld.

Captain Tunney believes he is on the hot trail of the men "higher up" alleged to have acted as go between in dealings Captain Boy-ed, Captain Von Pappen and a mysterious Sternburg had with the bomb plotters.

"Lieutenant" Robert Fay indicted several weeks ago on the charge of conspiring to blow up munitions plants, furnished the police the information on which Von Kleise and his alleged conspirators were arrested.

Von Kleise was born in Pommern, Prussia. He told the police that he lived within a block of the home of Bismark and that his father was a firm friend of the German chancellor.

WIND CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE AT MORRISDALE

Two Families Have Narrow Escape When Fire Destroys Homes

Night before last during the strong wind storm which swept over this section, six out of the eight smoke stacks on the boiler house of the Morrisdale coal company blew down, tynearly a week. The total loss to the company including the loss of time and the cost of replacing the stacks will amount to probably $5000.

Work was started yesterday morning erecting new stacks so as to resume operations at the mines as soon as possible.

A double house at Morrisdale burned down about the same time as the stacks were destroyed. The house was occupied by the mine foreman and one of the miners. The families of these two men narrowly escaped being burned to death as the fire had considerable headway before the families were awakened.

Second Large Assignment Received From Hatcheries Within a Week

A car load of fish containing 121,000 young Rainbow trout from State and National hatcheries will arrive here tomorrow for distribution in the fresh water streams on the mountains about Clearfield. An application was made for this assignment by William Goss, Otis Knepp and other sportsmen interested in fishing.

These trout will be taken tomorrow afternoon to the mountains, a few miles from here, and placed in the best fishing streams in the neighborhood. The committee who secured them are raising the money today to hire carriages to take them to the mountains as the government does not distribute them.

A car load of 55,000 small trout was received last Friday and placed in streams. The assignment which will be received tomorrow will be distributed in other streams so as to make good fishing in all sections of the mountains.

ANGLERS GETTING READY FOR SALLY TO TROUT STREAMS

Although Trout are Reported Plentiful, Few Firshermen are Banking on Big Baskets

Water High in Mountain Streams on Account of Rains and Melting Snow—Season Starts Saturday and Lasts Until July 31.

Local anglers are getting ready their fishing tackle and are bringing their togs forth from their hibernating quarters in preparation for a sally to their favorite streams early Saturday when the 1916 trout season opens. Many of the fishermen will go to the mountains and spend the first week at their hunting camps, in order to get an early start every morning.

None of the anglers are much pleased with the weather and few are banking on big baskets this season. The weather conditions during the past week or ten days have not been very auspicious for fishing. The melting of the snow which fell during the past week bringing with it high water will be a detriment against big catches. The waters will be rather cold, deep and cloudy and the trout will be content to remain in their hiding places for a while yet until the waters become warmer. These conditions make it difficult to tempt the fish with an artificial bait which is used extensively in trout fishing.

Within the past few days hundreds of all trout have been placed in the streams on the north mountains and by the time most of the fry planted should have attained a catchable size. But there are a large number of small trout have been placed in the streams but these will not be large enough for angling. It is reported that the [illegible] planted here will [illegible] large for bait of anglers [illegible] pose of their sport [illegible] fish during the [illegible]

WESTERN ELK ON PRESERVE INFESTED WITH WOOD TICKS

Steps Will Soon be Taken to Rid Animals of Pests

Game Warden George Hummelsbaugh and some other parties were up to the Clearfield preserves one day this week making an inspection of the herd of elk that was recently turned loose in that section. It was reported that nearly all of these elk had been infested with wood ticks, and the observations made by Mr. Hummelsbaugh confirmed these reports. A powerful field glass was used in making the observation and it was plainly evident that the animals were literally covered with this vermin. All of the elk that were brought within the range of the party had wood ticks.

It is stated that some of the elk recently brought to the Hicks Run preserves are also affected by the ticks.

Measures must be taken immediately to rid the animal of the ticks. If some means is not found in the near future there is a possibility that all of the animals will succumb. It is probable that some means will be figured out whereby the animals can be sprayed so that the ticks will be killed.

BELGIAN "FLAG DAY" A BIG SUCCESS—$71.40 COLLECTED

Local Chapter of the D. A. R. Contributes Handsomely to Nation-Wide Move.

Belgian Flag Day, King Albert's birthday, which was celebrated last Saturday in an effort to raise $1,000,000 in a single day for Belgian relief, was a highly successful event in Clearfield, a total of $71.40 being realized by members of the local D. A. R. chapter through the sale of miniature Belgian flags. In Clearfield proper the ladies raised $67.40 for the relief fund, and members of the chapter residing in other parts of the county added $4.40 to that sum, making a total of $71.40. ## ANOTHER CHEMICAL TRUCK BOUGHT BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

First ward Hose Company Contracts for Martin Chemical For Delivery August 1

Payment of $450 Made on Purchase at Meeting Last Night—Machine Bought Through Asbury Lee, Jr.

The First Ward Hose company at a meeting held last night signed contracts for the purchase of a Martin Hose and Chemical truck built by the Martin truck company of York. Purchase price is to be $3500, of which $450 was paid last night to Asbury Lee, Jr., through whom the truck was contracted for.

This will make the second modern fire fighting machine for the Clearfield fire department, the first one having been bought by the Elk Hose company within the past few months. Both machines will be very similar in character, each containing a powerful chemical apparatus, and a hose-cart attachment capable of transporting with great speed enough fire hose to combat any but the largest conflagration. The new truck will be delivered here about August 1.

The First Ward company plans to complete the payment of the $3,000 for which it obligated itself last night through voluntary contributions, and from funds secured through various entertainments planned for the immediate future. It is believed that the entire fund can be raised without [illegible]

Carranza Troops and Citizens Fire on U. S. Forces at Parral

Mexican General's Dispatches Interpreted to Mean Americans cannot Progress so Far into Mexico

NO CASUALTIES REPORTED TO FUNSTON

San Antonio, April 13.—(By United Press)—Carranza soldiers and citizens in Parral fired on American troops when the latter marched through the city, Consul Letcher reported to Major General Funston today quoting advices from General Gutierrez, the Carranza commander at Parral. There was no casualties according to the advices. General Gutierrez adopted a complaining tone in his advices to Letcher. The Carranzistas had no idea the Americans were so far south, he declared, and were surprised by the striking powers of the men.

The Mexican General's dispatches were interested to mean that the Carranzistas do not intend to permit the Americans to progress so far into Mexico. One hundred and forty soldiers believed to be part of Major Tompkins' company comprised the force that passed through Parral, Letcher reported. The Americans kept on marching paying little attention to the firing.

Following receipt of the advices Major General Funston called attention to the lack of co-operation of Carranza in the search for Villa. He derided Gutierrez' claim that the appearance of the Americans took the Parral soldiers and citizens by surprise.

The Carranzistas have permitted Villa to slip through their lines twice. Once only recently when the bandit was reported walled in to the south by Carranzista troops. Funston cited that and said that war has long existed between Carranza and Villa and therefore the outposts and scouts around Parral would be warned against surprise attacks.

A surprise is practically impossible with proper protection, Funston stated. It is considered that Gutierrez held the Americans responsible for the shooting.

El Paso, April 13.—(By United Press)—Army officers in Columbus believe that the United States expedition in Mexico is approaching a critical stage. The danger lies in the communication line over 400 miles long with an inadequate transport between.

The troops have gone hungry for days and have suffered from lack of clothing in the high altitudes without complaint. With the rainy season due within a month at which time passes will be closed for days, army officers said that the expedition must have free use of the Mexican railway or withdraw from Mexico.

CARRANZA'S NOTE DOES NOT DEMAND TROOPS WITHDRAW

Officials Will Not Consider Expedition Success Until Villa Is Captured

Note Merely For Home Consumption —Shrewd Move to Block Growing Dissatisfaction Because of Presence Of Troops in Mexico.

Washington, April 13.—(By United Press)—General Carranza's note to Secretary Lansing now in the hands of the Mexican embassy here is in no sense an ultimatum or a demand that United States troops withdraw, it was stated this afternoon at the embassy, but the "request" for negotiations looking to withdrawal of the troops.

Three facts are set out in the Mexican situation as regards the note. These were: 1. Intimation by a high official that it is very doubtful that Carranza's request for withdrawal would be concurred in. 2. Unwillingness of the active military heads to consider the Mexican expedition a success until Villa has been killed or captured. 3. Reports from the expedition itself showing that it is now approaching a critical stage in its march of 425 miles south through Durango state.

Secretary Lansing had not received the note this afternoon. It was still in the hands of the Mexican embassy and was under translation. President Wilson and Lansing conferred this morning but their conversation was understood to have been confined to the expedition itself.

The Mexican ambassador declined to discuss the note before its delivery to the state department. No official announcement came from any source today but one high official hinted broadly that this government would not consider Carranza able to handle the situation.

Reports from the border state that General Funston had made it plain that he would never consider the expedition a success if it were ended with the fate of Villa undecided. He added, however, that he had no official word of the note and his attitude would be governed by that.

The American soldiers have been without salt, coffee, sugar and other necessity for days and have suffered from cold in the high altitudes. They have not complained, it was stated, but it is apparent that they must be withdrawn unless better lines of communication can be established. The optimistic view of the situation meant by the suggestion that negotiations would occupy several weeks.

In the meantime American troops may bring the campaign in Mexico to a successful conclusion by capturing Villa. The text of the Carranza note is expected that it was meant largely for home consumption and was a shrewd move by Carranza to block growing dissatisfaction in his own country because of the continued presence of American troopers on Mexican soil.

PICKING 'EM OVER FOR BRUMBAUGH.

If Mr. Patton hasn't a tin ear, he heard rumblings of an unpleasant nature here this morning when he leaned close to the ground to learn what this county thinks of the idea of sending three Republicans to the legislature to serve his chief. For instance, he heard one well defined rumble that the country is tired of men who are too small to think for themselves. He heard another queer noise which told him that Mr. Brumbaugh's idea of being President of the United States was not percolating fast. Still another sound must have conveyed to him the strength of the "Intelligence First" platform of Woodward and Boulton.

Altogether, Mr. Patton's "listen" must not have been gratifying. He came up here with his ear full of considered "hand picking," then surely the proper debush to take pot luck for his chief in the whole field of candidates. What fell is what the Citizens' Committee could have culled from the ground, for it was there, uncovered by even a leaf.

To this paper there seems less to commend, even in the eyes of th most scrupulous guardian of the "rights of the people," the action of the Brumbaugh machine in picking over the culls, than the straighforward effort of the Citizens' Committee to secure the candidacy of sound men of brains—which it did. If the one is to be considered "hand picking," theen surely the proper description of the other is "ground picking"—and any man of sense knows that the first is always the sounder fruit.

It seems rather at odds with the standards of intellectual administration set by Governor Brumbaugh that his representatives do not fall in whole-heartedly with the plans of the Citizens' Committee. It is inconceivable that men of proved ability and acknowledged capacity for thought and action should be considered unfit to serve in the state assembly, yet that is exactly what Mr. Patton's disapproval of the Woodward-Boulton candidacy means. It means more. It means that the governor wants only those who are pledged to his support, to whatever that might lead in his heedless ambition. It means still more. It means that if men go to the legislature from this county, labelled anything but Clearfield county, Clearfield will continue indefinitely to suffer the want of men at the capitol who will work for her interests instead of serving in the questionable capacity of pawns in another man's game of chess.

Today's News in Today's Progress

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Chihuahua City is figuring with almost as much persistence in the news dispatches of today as did Vera Cruz during the 'Tampico incident,' yet the average American's only mental association with the name of the capital of the largest state in the Mexican republic is that 'it's the place the funny little dogs come from," says a primer, issued today by the National Geographic society of Washington, which tells of the importance of this city of 40,000 inhabitants whose history antedates by more than a quarter of a century the first permanent settlement made by Europeans in the United States, at St. Augustine, Fla., in 1565.

"The march of General Pershing's punitive expeditionary force marks the third visit of a body of United States soldiers to this center of the mining industry of the state of Chihuahua, which is as large as the combined areas of Ohio and Pennsylvania," continues the bulletin. "During the Mexican war, that unique Missouri lawyer, Col. A. W. Doniphan, captured the city with a force of less than a thousand men in 1847, and in the same war it fell again before the Americans under General Price.

"Chihuahua is more accustomed, however, to seeing its people engaged in internecine strife than in opposing a foreign foe. It was here, for example, that the patriot priest, Hidlago was executed in 1811, following the failure of the revolution which he led in an effort to throw off the Spanish yoke. The most imposing monument in the city is in memory of his beloved national hero the incidents of whose death are as pathetic as the passing of any martyr since the days of Joan of Arc. The priest was condemned to die at dawn. While being led to the place of execution he remembered that he had left some sweetmeats under his pillow. He asked one of the soldiers to return for them and when they were brought he distributed them with his blessing among the members of the firing squad. Knowing that the misty light of dawn would make it difficult for the soldiers to aim accurately the priest calmly placed his hand over his heart against the black robe, so they could locate the vital spot.

"While the mining industry in the territory contiguous to Chihuahua City is four times as important as the agricultural interests, nevertheless the raising of corn, fruits and cotton is important and an interesting feature of the last named product is that its manufacture into cloth dates back to the days of Cortez, who sent to his sovereign, the King of Spain, some of the finely woven material from the land which utilized cotton even before Europe knew its uses.

"Legends of the Toltecs, recorded in their sacred books, tell us that Quetzalcohuatl, god of the air, grew cotton of all colors in his garden, and taught its many uses. As to colored cotton, the Mexicans have never felt the pinch of a dyestuff famine, at least red dyestuff, for this country is the home of the cochineal that add insect, whose dried bodies furnish such a wonderful and lasting scarlet coloring matter. It was not until 1703, the very year in which the Spanish settlers reached the present site of Chihuahua City and discovered the Santa Eulalie mine, that it became known that cochineal was not a seed or bloom of a plant attached to the cochineal fig, but a bug.

"In some parts of Chihuahua cotton is perennial and it is necessary to plant it oftener than once every ten years.

"The spinning of wooden yarn and weaving of wooden cloth is one of the industries of Chihuahua City, dating back to the importation of the merino sheep by the Spaniards in 1511. It should be remembered, incidentally that all the domestic animals of Mexico date from the Spanish conquest and the herds of cattle, goats, sheep and swine which now find excellent pasturage on the plateau surrounding Chihuahua have sprung from the original Spanish stock, except for the few new strains introduced within very recent years in an effort to improve the standard.

"Of the 28,191 mining properties listed in Mexico in 1903 five-sixths of them produce silver and those the Santa Eulalia, 12 miles outside Chihuahua, is the most famous. It has produced as high as 20,000 tons of silver-bearing ore a month. The handsome parish church in the capital which was in the course of construction for three quarters of a century, was built from a tax levied on the output of this mine.

"When the Aztecs were the Chihuahua mines their skilled artificers cast their ideographs in molten silver. They also made a bronze much the same as that used in Europe, but they did not know the use of iron, even though there was a iron mountain of almost solid iron only a few miles outside the city of Durango, a mountain nearly a mile long, a third of a mile wide at the base and nearly 700 feet high, worth, it is estimated, as much as all the gold and silver produced in the mines of Mexico in two centuries.

"It seems practically certain that some of General Pershing's soldiers will spend Easter week in Chihuahua, where they will have an opportunity to witness one of the oddest customs practiced in any civilized country—the 'hanging of Judas' on Saturday before Easter Sunday. This ceremony is performed in many cities, and usually takes place before a pulkue saloon. A rope is stretched from an upper window of the saloon to a building across the street. It is lowered and an effigy, a curious affair, usually with a grotesque nose, like our comic valentines, a high hat and a long tail coat, is tied to it. Then the rope is drawn taut as soon as a match has been applied to the coat-tail fuse. The crowd assembles as the figure burns. Suddenly there is a loud explosion as the fuse burns to the center of the figure, and a wild scramble follows for the hat, or the shoes, or perhaps the coat—a prize for some lucky onlooker."

We are all interested, or at least should be, in whatever would uplift the community.

What is the matter then, that so few are taking an active part in the movement started by the rural schools in behalf of the fair to be held by the school children. If parents would wake up and encourage the children, great advancement could be made in the arts of home economics, gardening and all lines of home work.

There are plenty of vacant lots in town that could be had for the asking, and it would be better for boys to spend part of their time in taking care of them than running the street in idleness.

It would be a sort of inspiration for the boys and girls, not only working for prizes in contest, but knowing that they are adding something to the products of the community.

Then let us wake up and push the movement to a successful finish. Not hinder it by our indolence, but ever ready to help those who are now working so hard to show the State what we up here in the Grampian hills can do.

Good Judgment

Of what possible value is good judgment if you do not use it? Why take the trouble to determine in your own mind the right or wrong of a thing if you are not guided by your reasoning? Stop to consider the relative value of brick and wood construction before you build your house, and let your own good judgment tell you which material to use.

Why FRICTION.

Let's agree right at the start that wherever there are moving mechanical parts and metal-to-metal contact, a certain proportion of friction—that age-old bugbear—is unavoidable. Your job and ours is to see that this proportion is reduced to its lowest possible terms. This is where Atlantic Motor Oils figure.

Atlantic Motor Oils divide themselves naturally into a group of four principal lubricants: Atlantic Polarine, Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" and Atlantic "Heavy."

For eight out of ten cars, Atlantic Polarine is the 100-percent year-round oil that strikes terror to the hearts of old General Friction and his corps of death-dealers.

In certain types of motors and under certain driving-conditions, one of the other three Atlantic Motor Oils listed above may do the trick better than Atlantic Polarine. This is a matter for you to decide in conference with your garageman.

The big thing to remember is that this group of four lubricants—the product of the world's oldest and largest lubricant manufacturers—is the worst enemy the Friction Army ever lined up against.

Atlantic Gasoline is the accepted standard motor-fuel. Atlantic Motor Oils are just as efficient and important to proper lubrication as Atlantic Gasoline is to motive-power.

This lubrication thing is serious—better give it thought.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

"IF I ONLY HAD A MILLION"

Last evening the Senior class of '16 presented their fine 3 act comedy drama, "If I Only Had a Million," to a large and appreciative audience amid shouts of laughter and applause and showed themselves to be far superior to the characters they represented.

George Ammerman who acted the part of Mr. Smithie the man who wanted a million, handled his part in a masterly manner proving to the audience that he was capable of spending the million. Miss Glenna Shively who took the part of Mrs. Smithie did ample justice to the part she so well represented, by keeping next to the million.

The other actors, "Dick" Lantz, Dean Hile, Viola Wise, Helen Bloom, George Leach, Kelly Bloom, Grace Garner, Amy Bailey, P. Mallon, E. Evans and Roy Vaughn showed themselves possessors of talents in the way they handled parts. Especially Kelly Bloom as Lord Rainsmore a fortune hunter, who thought he had the daughter of the millionaire Catherine Smithie (Miss Grace Garner), until the right man came around and took the prize.

The success of the play was due to Prof. Anderson as a result of the strenuous efforts he put forth in drilling the cast.

Brumbaugh Stamp of Approval Placed on Assembly Candidates

HON. JOE PHILIPS SENT TO THE DISCARD

Hon. Charles E. Patton, of Curwensville, secretary of agriculture in Governor Brumbaugh's cabinet, spent a few hours in Clearfield this morning conferring with Brumbaugh leaders hereabouts, and generally leaning his ear to the ground in the interest of the fight of his chief to the national convention. Incidentally, quite so, it is understood, the Brumbaugh stamp of approval which had adorned the candidacy of Hon. Joseph Philips, was erased entirely, and transferred to the ambitions of W. E. Peterson, of Munson.

A quiet open air conference between Mr. Patton, Dr. Currrier, of Grampian, A. S. Moulthrop, of DuBois, Mr. Peterson, and a number of Brumbaugh leaders of Clearfield and elsewhere in the county, was held on the Dimeling corner during the morning, when it is reported that not only the Peterson but the Currier and Moulthrop candidatures were given official sanction, blessings, etc., etc., etc., and the groundword laid for active opposition to Woodward and Boulton, who are thus far the only candidates who have been pledged the support of the recently organized Citizens' Committee of One Hundred.

Mr. Patton left for his home in Curwensville on the 11:40 B., R. & P. train. His itinerary in Clearfield county includes DuBois, to which place he will go this evening to line up the forces which are to support John C. Arnold for delegate to the national convention on a straight Brumbaugh ticket. Mr. Arnold announced his candidacy yesterday, and his friends say he will make a hard fight for election.

Mr. Patton's arrival here, and the O. K. conference which was held this morning will serve to launch under who are determined to send men of full steam the activities of the supporters of Woodward and Boulton, brains and ability to represent the county at Harrisburg next year.

GERMAN OFFICER CONFESSES PLOT TO BLOW UP SHIPS

Plot To Blow Up Munition Ships Revealed By New York Police Last Night

Sweated Until Daybreak Aged Captain Tells Story of Bomb Factory And Plot—Officers Believe They are On Trail of Men Higher Up.

New York, April 13.—(By United Press)—Full confession of the details of the plot to blow up ships carrying munitions to the allies has been made by Captain Karl Von Kleise, retired sea captain, and one of the four men arrested last night, the police announced today.

Sweated until day break today von Kleise broke down and admitted that he was superintendent of a factory in Hoboken where bombs were made, the police stated. Certain parts of his confession are being withheld.

Captain Tunney believes he is on the hot trail of the men "higher up" alleged to have acted as go between in dealings Captain Boy-ed, Captain Von Pappen and a mysterious Sternburg had with the bomb plotters.

"Lieutenant" Robert Fay indicted several weeks ago on the charge of conspiring to blow up munitions plants, furnished the police the information on which Von Kleise and his alleged conspirators were arrested.

Von Kleise was born in Pommern, Prussia. He told the police that he lived within a block of the home of Bismark and that his father was a firm friend of the German chancellor.

WIND CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE AT MORRISDALE

Two Families Have Narrow Escape When Fire Destroys Homes

Night before last during the strong wind storm which swept over this section, six out of the eight smoke stacks on the boiler house of the Morrisdale coal company blew down, tynearly a week. The total loss to the company including the loss of time and the cost of replacing the stacks will amount to probably $5000.

Work was started yesterday morning erecting new stacks so as to resume operations at the mines as soon as possible.

A double house at Morrisdale burned down about the same time as the stacks were destroyed. The house was occupied by the mine foreman and one of the miners. The families of these two men narrowly escaped being burned to death as the fire had considerable headway before the families were awakened.

121,000 RAINBOW TROUT WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

Second Large Assignment Received From Hatcheries Within a Week

A car load of fish containing 121,000 young Rainbow trout from State and National hatcheries will arrive here tomorrow for distribution in the fresh water streams on the mountains about Clearfield. An application was made for this assignment by William Goss, Otis Knepp and other sportsmen interested in fishing.

These trout will be taken tomorrow afternoon to the mountains, a few miles from here, and placed in the best fishing streams in the neighborhood. The committee who secured them are raising the money today to hire carriages to take them to the mountains as the government does not distribute them.

ANGLERS GETTING READY FOR SALLY TO TROUT STREAMS

Although Trout are Reported Plentiful, Few Firshermen are Banking on Big Baskets

Water High in Mountain Streams on Account of Rains and Melting Snow—Season Starts Saturday and Lasts Until July 31.

Local anglers are getting ready their fishing tackle and are bringing their togs forth from their hibernating quarters in preparation for a sally to their favorite streams early Saturday when the 1916 trout season opens. Many of the fishermen will go to the mountains and spend the first week at their hunting camps, in order to get an early start every morning.

None of the anglers are much pleased with the weather and few are banking on big baskets this season. The weather conditions during the past week or ten days have not been very auspicious for fishing. The melting of the snow which fell during the past week bringing with it high water will be a detriment against big catches. The waters will be rather cold, deep and cloudy and the trout will be content to remain in their hiding places for a while yet until the waters become warmer. These conditions make it difficult to tempt the fish with artificial bait which is used extensively in trout fishing.

Within the past [illegible] hundreds of [illegible] trout have been placed in the streams on the nearby mountains and by the time [illegible] the fry planted should have attained a catchable size. But [illegible] large number of [illegible] have been placed in the streams [illegible] will not be large enough [illegible] It is reported that [illegible] fry planted here [illegible] large [illegible] of anglers [illegible] pose of their [illegible] fishing [illegible]

The game protectors [illegible] will keep a close lookout this year for any violations of the fishing laws of Pennsylvania and it would be well

WESTERN ELK ON PRESERVE INFESTED WITH WOOD TICKS

Steps Will Soon be Taken to Rid Animals of Pests

Game Warden George Hummelsbaugh and some other parties were up to the Clearfield preserves one day this week making an inspection of the herd of elk that was recently turned loose in that section. It was reported that nearly all of these elk had been infested with wood ticks, and the observations made by Mr. Hummelsbaugh confirmed these reports. A powerful field glass was used in making the observation and it was plainly evident that the animals were literally covered with this vermin. All of the elk that were brought within the range of the party had wood ticks.

It is stated that some of the elk recently brought to the Hicks Run preserves are also affected by the ticks.

Measures must be taken immediately to rid the animal of the ticks. If some means is not found in the near future there is a possibility that all of the animals will succumb. It is probable that some means will be figured out whereby the animals can be sprayed so that the ticks will be killed.

BELGIAN "FLAG DAY" A BIG SUCCESS—$71.40 COLLECTED

Local Chapter of the D. A. R. Contributes Handsomely to Nation-Wide Move.

Belgian Flag Day, King Albert's birthday, which was celebrated last Saturday in an effort to raise $1,000,000 in a single day for Belgian relief, was a highly successful event in Clearfield, a total of $71.40 being realized by members of the local D. A. R. chapter through the sale of miniature Belgian flags. In Clearfield proper the ladies raised $67.40 for the relief fund, and members of the chapter residing in other parts of the county added $4.40 to that sum, making a total of $71.40. ## ANOTHER CHEMICAL TRUCK BOUGHT BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

First ward Hose Company Contracts for Martin Chemical For Delivery August 1

Payment of $450 Made on Purchase at Meeting Last Night—Machine Bought Through Asbury Lee, Jr.

The First Ward Hose company at a meeting held last night signed contracts for the purchase of a Martin Hose and Chemical truck built by the Martin truck company of York. Purchase price is to be $3500, of which $450 was paid last night to Asbury Lee, Jr., through whom the truck was contracted for.

This will make the second modern fire fighting machine for the Clearfield fire department, the first one having been bought by the Elk Hose company within the past few months. Both machines will be very similar in character, each containing a powerful chemical apparatus, and a hose-cart attachment capable of transporting with great speed enough fire hose to combat any but the largest conflagration. The new truck will be delivered here about August 1.

The First Ward company plans to complete the payment of the $3,000 for which it obligated itself last night through voluntary contributions, and from funds secured through various entertainments planned for the immediate future. It is believed that the entire fund can be raised without canvassing.

Much credit is given the committee which conducted the campaign for the purchase of the truck. It is composed of C. Mack Hoyt and Geo. [illegible] Lemmon.

Carranza Troops and Citizens Fire on U. S. Forces at Parral

Mexican General's Dispatches Interpreted to Mean Americans cannot Progress so Far into Mexico

NO CASUALTIES REPORTED TO FUNSTON

San Antonio, April 13.—(By United Press)—Carranza soldiers and citizens in Parral fired on American troops when the latter marched through the city, Consul Letcher reported to Major General Funston today quoting advices from General Gutierrez, the Carranza commander at Parral. There was no casualties according to the advices. General Gutierrez adopted a complaining tone in his advices to Letcher. The Carranzistas had no idea the Americans were so far south, he declared, and were surprised by the striking powers of the men.

The Mexican General's dispatches were interested to mean that the Carranzistas do not intend to permit the Americans to progress so far into Mexico. One hundred and forty soldiers believed to be part of Major Tompkins' company comprised the force that passed through Parral, Letcher reported. The Americans kept on marching paying little attention to the firing.

Following receipt of the advices Major General Funston called attention to the lack of co-operation of Carranza in the search for Villa. He derided Gutierrez' claim that the appearance of the Americans took the Parral soldiers and citizens by surprise.

The Carranzistas have permitted Villa to slip through their lines twice. Once only recently when the bandit was reported walled in to the south by Carranzista troops. Funston cited that and said that war has long existed between Carranza and Villa and therefore the outposts and scouts around Parral would be warned against surprise attacks.

A surprise is practically impossible with proper protection, Funston stated. It is considered that Gutierrez held the Americans responsible for the shooting.

El Paso, April 13.—(By United Press)—Army officers in Columbus believe that the United States expedition in Mexico is approaching a critical stage. The danger lies in the communication line over 400 miles long with an inadequate transport between.

The troops have gone hungry for days and have suffered from lack of clothing in the high altitudes without complaint. With the rainy season due within a month at which time passes will be closed for days, army officers said that the expedition must have free use of the Mexican railway or withdraw from Mexico.

CARRANZA'S NOTE DOES NOT DEMAND TROOPS WITHDRAW

Officials Will Not Consider Expedition Success Until Villa Is Captured

Note Merely For Home Consumption —Shrewd Move to Block Growing Dissatisfaction Because of Presence Of Troops in Mexico.

Washington, April 13.—(By United Press)—General Carranza's note to Secretary Lansing now in the hands of the Mexican embassy here is in no sense an ultimatum or a demand that United States troops withdraw, it was stated this afternoon at the embassy, but the "request" for negotiations looking to withdrawal of the troops.

Three facts are set out in the Mexican situation as regards the note. These were: 1. Intimation by a high official that it is very doubtful that Carranza's request for withdrawal would be concurred in. 2. Unwillingness of the active military heads to consider the Mexican expedition a success until Villa has been killed or captured. 3. Reports from the expedition itself showing that it is now approaching a critical stage in its march of 425 miles south through Durango state.

Secretary Lansing had not received the note this afternoon. It was still in the hands of the Mexican embassy and was under translation. President Wilson and Lansing conferred this morning but their conversation was understood to have been confined to the expedition itself.

The Mexican ambassador declined to discuss the note before its delivery to the state department. No official announcement came from any source today but one high official hinted broadly that this government would not consider Carranza able to handle the situation.

Reports from the border state that General Funston had made it plain that he would never consider the expedition a success if it were ended with the fate of Villa undecided. He added, however, that he had no official word of the note and his attitude would be governed by that.

The American soldiers have been without salt, coffee, sugar and other necessity for days and have suffered from cold in the high altitudes. They have not complained, it was stated, but it is apparent that they must be withdrawn unless better lines of communication can be established. The optimistic view of the situation meant by the suggestion that negotiations would occupy several weeks.

In the meantime American troops may bring the campaign in Mexico to a successful conclusion by capturing Villa. The text of the Carranza note is regarded that it was meant largely for home consumption and was a shrewd move by Carranza to block growing dissatisfaction in his own country because of the continued presence of American troopers on Mexican soil.

PICKING 'EM OVER FOR BRUMBAUGH.

If Mr. Patton hasn't a tin ear, he heard rumblings of an unpleasant nature here this morning when he leaned close to the ground to learn what this county thinks of the idea of sending three Republicans to the legislature to serve his chief. For instance, he heard one well defined rumble that the country is tired of men who are too small to think for themselves. He heard another queer noise which told him that Mr. Brumbaugh's idea of being President of the United States was not percolating fast. Still another sound must have conveyed to him the strength of the "Intelligence First" platform of Woodward and Boulton.

Altogether, Mr. Patton's "listen" must not have been gratifying. He came up here with his ear full of considered "hand picking," then surely the proper debush to take pot luck for his chief in the whole field of candidates. What fell is what the Citizens' Committee could have culled from the ground, for it was there, uncovered by even a leaf.

To this paper there seems less to commend, even in the eyes of th most scrupulous guardian of the "rights of the people," the action of the Brumbaugh machine in picking over the culls, than the straighforward effort of the Citizens' Committee to secure the candidacy of sound men of brains—which it did. If the one is to be considered "hand picking," theen surely the proper description of the other is "ground picking"—and any man of sense knows that the first is always the sounder fruit.

It seems rather at odds with the standards of intellectual administration set by Governor Brumbaugh that his representatives do not fall in whole-heartedly with the plans of the Citizens' Committee. It is inconceivable that men of proved ability and acknowledged capacity for thought and action should be considered unfit to serve in the state assembly, yet that is exactly what Mr. Patton's disapproval of the Woodward-Boulton candidacy means. It means more. It means that the governor wants only those who are pledged to his support, to whatever that might lead in his heedless ambition. It means still more. It means that if men go to the legislature from this county, labelled anything but Clearfield county, Clearfield will continue indefinitely to suffer the want of men at the capitol who will work for her interests instead of serving in the questionable capacity of pawns in another man's game of chess.

Today's News in Today's Progress

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Chihuahua City is figuring with almost as much persistence in the news dispatches of today as did Vera Cruz during the 'Tampico incident,' yet the average American's only mental association with the name of the capital of the largest state in the Mexican republic is that 'it's the place the funny little dogs come from," says a primer, issued today by the National Geographic society of Washington, which tells of the importance of this city of 40,000 inhabitants whose history antedates by more than a quarter of a century the first permanent settlement made by Europeans in the United States, at St. Augustine, Fla., in 1565.

"The march of General Pershing's punitive expeditionary force marks the third visit of a body of United States soldiers to this center of the mining industry of the state of Chihuahua, which is as large as the combined areas of Ohio and Pennsylvania," continues the bulletin. "During the Mexican war, that unique Missouri lawyer, Col. A. W. Doniphan, captured the city with a force of less than a thousand men in 1847, and in the same war it fell again before the Americans under General Price.

"Chihuahua is more accustomed, however, to seeing its people engaged in internecine strife than in opposing a foreign foe. It was here, for example, that the patriot priest, Hidlago was executed in 1811, following the failure of the revolution which he led in an effort to throw off the Spanish yoke. The most imposing monument in the city is in memory of his beloved national hero the incidents of whose death are as pathetic as the passing of any martyr since the days of Joan of Arc. The priest was condemned to die at dawn. While being led to the place of execution he remembered that he had left some sweetmeats under his pillow. He asked one of the soldiers to return for them and when they were brought he distributed them with his blessing among the members of the firing squad. Knowing that the misty light of dawn would make it difficult for the soldiers to aim accurately the priest calmly placed his hand over his heart against the black robe, so they could locate the vital spot.

"While the mining industry in the territory contiguous to Chihuahua City is four times as important as the agricultural interests, nevertheless the raising of corn, fruits and cotton is important and an interesting feature of the last named product is that its manufacture into cloth dates back to the days of Cortez, who sent to his sovereign, the King of Spain, some of the finely woven material from the land which utilized cotton even before Europe knew its uses.

"Legends of the Toltecs, recorded in their sacred books, tell us that Quetzalcohuatl, god of the air, grew cotton of all colors in his garden, and taught its many uses. As to colored cotton, the Mexicans have never felt the pinch of a dyestuff famine, at least red dyestuff, for this country is the home of the cochineal that add insect, whose dried bodies furnish such a wonderful and lasting scarlet coloring matter. It was not until 1703, the very year in which the Spanish settlers reached the present site of Chihuahua City and discovered the Santa Eulalia mine, that it became known that cochineal was not a seed or bloom of a plant attached to the cochineal fig, but a bug.

"In some parts of Chihuahua cotton is perennial and it is necessary to plant it oftener than once every ten years.

"The spinning of woolen yarn and weaving of woolen cloth is one of the industries of Chihuahua City, dating back to the importation of the merino sheep by the Spaniards in 1711. It should be remembered, incidentally that all the domestic animals of Mexico date from the Spanish conquest and the herds of cattle, goats, sheep and swine which now find excellent pasturage on the plateau surrounding Chihuahua have sprung from the original Spanish stock, except for the few new strains introduced within very recent years in an effort to improve the standard.

"Of the 28,191 mining properties listed in Mexico in 1905 five-sixths of them produce silver and those the Santa Eulalia, 12 miles outside Chihuahua, is the most famous. It has produced as high as 20,000 tons of silver-bearing ore a month. The handsome parish church in the capital which was in the course of construction for three quarters of a century, was built from a tax levied on the output of this mine.

"When the Aztecs were the Cherokees knew their skilled artificers used cochineal bloopings to make the finest scarlet. They also made a crimson much the same as that used in Europe, but they did not know the value of iron, even though there was a iron mountain of almost solid iron only a few miles outside the city of Durango, a mountain nearly a mile long, a third of a mile wide at the base and nearly 700 feet high, worth, it is estimated, as much as all the gold and silver produced in the mines of Mexico in two centuries.

"It seems practically certain that some of General Pershing's soldiers will spend Easter week in Chihuahua, where they will have an opportunity to witness one of the oddest customs practiced in any civilized country—the 'hanging of Judas' on Saturday before Easter Sunday. This ceremony is performed in many cities, and usually takes place before a pulque saloon. A rope is stretched from an upper window of the saloon to a building across the street. It is lowered and an effigy, a curious affair, usually with a grotesque nose, like our comic valentines, a high hat and a long tail coat, is tied to it. Then the rope is drawn taut as soon as a match has been applied to the coat-tail fuse. The crowd assembles as the figure burns. Suddenly there is a loud explosion as the fuse burns to the center of the figure, and a wild scramble follows for the hat, or the shoes, or perhaps the coat—a prize for some lucky onlooker."

We are all interested, or at least should be, in whatever would uplift the community.

What is the matter then, that so few are taking an active part in the movement started by the rural schools in behalf of the fair to be held by the school children. If parents would wake up and encourage the children, great advancement could be made in the arts of home economics, gardening and all lines of home work.

There are plenty of vacant lots in town that could be had for the asking, and it would be better for boys to spend part of their time in taking care of them than running the street in idleness.

It would be a sort of inspiration for the boys and girls, not only working for prizes in contest, but knowing that they are adding something to the products of the community.

Then let us wake up and push the movement to a successful finish. Not hinder it by our indolence, but ever ready to help those who are now working so hard to show the State what we up here in the Grampian hills can do.

Why FRICTION.

Let's agree right at the start that wherever there are moving mechanical parts and metal-to-metal contact, a certain proportion of friction—that age-old bugbear—is unavoidable. Your job and ours is to see that this proportion is reduced to its lowest possible terms. This is where Atlantic Motor Oils figure.

Atlantic Motor Oils divide themselves naturally into a group of four principal lubricants: Atlantic Polarine, Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" and Atlantic "Heavy."

For eight out of ten cars, Atlantic Polarine is the 100-percent year-round oil that strikes terror to the hearts of old General Friction and his corps of death-dealers.

In certain types of motors and under certain driving-conditions, one of the other three Atlantic Motor Oils listed above may do the trick better than Atlantic Polarine. This is a matter for you to decide in conference with your garageman.

The big thing to remember is that this group of four lubricants—the product of the world's oldest and largest lubricant manufacturers—is the worst enemy the Friction Army ever lined up against.

Atlantic Gasoline is the accepted standard motor-fuel. Atlantic Motor Oils are just as efficient and important to proper lubrication as Atlantic Gasoline is to motive-power.

This lubrication thing is serious—better give it thought.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

"IF I ONLY HAD A MILLION"

Last evening the Senior class of '16 presented their fine 3 act comedy drama, "If I Only Had a Million," to a large and appreciative audience amid shouts of laughter and applause and showed themselves to be far superior to the characters they represented.

George Ammerman who acted the part of Mr. Smithie the man who wanted a million, handled his part in a masterly manner proving to the audience that he was capable of spending the million. Miss Glenna Shively who took the part of Mrs. Smithie did ample justice to the part she so well represented, by keeping next to the million.

The other actors, "Dick" Lantz, Dean Hile, Viola Wise, Helen Bloom, George Leach, Kelly Bloom, Grace Garner, Amy Bailey, P. Mallon, E. Evans and Roy Vaughn showed themselves possessors of talents in the way they handled parts. Especially Kelly Bloom as Lord Rainsmore a fortune hunter, who thought he had the daughter of the millionaire Catherine Smithie (Miss Grace Garner), until the right man came around and took the prize.

The success of the play was due to Prof. Anderson as a result of the strenuous efforts he put forth in drilling the cast.
